Dear Sir,

It seems that most M.P.s are on the 'gravy train for gain', 'I'm alright Jack'

My good lady wife of 56 years left school in 1943 (WWII) at 14 yrs like I did etc. She started work in a factory involved in War Work, joined Women's Land Army at 17 yrs. She now receives £115.76 (2 wk) every two weeks, I think she is worth more than that, having had four children, all of good character etc.

It disgusts the working man, who is trying to survive during this recession etc. The service men and women deserve better leaders in the House of Commons etc, what a B.L.-dy carry on.

The best idea would be to place M.P.s in one or two good hotels for B&B and evening meals, (all those who cannot get home at night), those who live in London and local area, just claim transport costs and meals, this would save money, and all in the same boat.

Yours Sincerely
A

Sir 'England expects every man to do his DUTY'
