Dear Sir,

13 MAY '09

With respect, and with regard to your enquiries into M.P.'s expenses, I have no doubt the right decisions will have been made by you and your team.

As an old man may I be permitted to quote my wise father who said in 1975 that he thought the number of MPs should be reduced by half and the remainder paid more to improve the quality.

With mobile phones, computers etc, I suggest he could be right.

work along the South Coast, for instance and count the number of N.P.s, a very expensive item.

Wishing you great success
in your mammoth task,
Yours sincerely,

A. W. SMEE

P.S. Please excuse writing,
