

This is a submission to the committee for the review of MPs expenses.

If the rest of the country can operate reasonably robust expense systems, along with HMRC looking over their shoulders why can't the MPs?

Individual traders, partnerships and registered companies have expenses systems well defined by law and one of them must be suitable for MPs.

I suggest that a separate new system for MPs is not necessary.

Yours faithfully,
P Rush
Thirsk